

Spis treści

Preface	5
Przemysław Charzyński, Zbigniew Podgórski, Anna Dąbkowska, Monika Stawska Assessment of the recognisability and attractiveness of regional kinds of Polish cuisine in the context of culinary tourism	7
Karolina Buczkowska-Gołąbek Regional Culinary Heritage Europe network as a factor of culinary tourism development – Wielkopolska Region (Greater Poland) case study	19
Valentyna Obodovska Contemporary directions of Tourism Policy in Poland and Ukraine	31
Borbála Benkhard, Márton Halmai Mouthful Hungary – overview of Hungarian cuisine and culinary tourism	41
Elena – Laura Drăghiceanu Prospects of Wine Tourism Development in Drăgășani Region, Romania	55
Neli Veselinova Festivals of kiselo mlyako – a culinary tourism offer from Bulgaria to Europe and the rest of the world	67
Przemysław Charzyński, Alicja Gonia, Zbigniew Podgórski Branding Spain as a top enotourist destination – Assessment of the resources and promotional activities	73
Przemysław Charzyński, Agnieszka Łyszkiewicz, Monika Musiał Portugal as a culinary and wine tourism destination	85
Justyna Jasińska, Przemysław Charzyński, Marcin Świtoniak Potential for the development of culinary tourism in Zambia	101
Magdalena Woźniczko, Dominik Orłowski Unusual gastronomic establishments in the world as destinations of culinary tourism	113

Preface

Geography and Tourism is an interdisciplinary scientific journal aimed at promoting the results of theoretical and empirical research in geographical sciences and tourism. It is a pleasure to announce that in 2015 the journal scored 6 points on List B of the Ministry of Sciences and Higher education.

Following the decision of the Minister of Science and Higher Education, the journal has been granted funds for pursuing activities aimed at promoting science: reviews of articles by foreign scholars/experts and translation of submitted articles into English in 2017/2018. The tasks are financed under the agreement no. 777/P-DUN/2017.

Current issue of the journal includes papers focused on various issues related to culinary tourism, such as the assessment of development potential of culinary tourism or enotourism in various regions (Drăgășani, Romania) and countries (Hungary, Portugal, Zambia), evaluation of culinary tourism attractions (festivals, restaurants), factors influencing the preservation of culinary heritage across regions (Regional Culinary Heritage Europe network) and branding of tourist destinations (Spain). We sincerely thank the authors and reviewers for their contribution to the development of the journal.

We encourage you to submit research results for the next issues of Geography and Tourism. Instruction for authors is provided on the journal webpage www.geography.and.tourism.ukw.edu.pl.

Editors